BAAGAK HUMAN STORIES, VOL. 1

~ JASON BONE

The Human Stories series by Jason Bone, Oshkaabewis (Helper/Writer) and Midewid (One Who Works With the Sound of the Drum), Ron Indian-Mandamin, shares the many tellings of Baagak, a Being known by many, with contributions from Keith Berens, Isaac Murdoch, and others.

SOFT COVER | GRADE 8+
10" x 7" (25cm x 17.5cm)

MEETING MIDEWID ONE WHO WORKS WITH THE SOUND OF THE DRUM

I met Midewid (One Who Works With The Sound Of The Drum), Ron Indian-Mandamin, in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Midewid is a Knowledge Keeper, Traditional Lodge Keeper, and Spiritual Mentor. Midewid is also a storyteller who shares the Knowledge, and the many stories he has learned.

Midewid told me he had a dream about Baagak two weeks before I got in touch with him. He also said that he was driving to Winnipeg, he was thinking about Baagak and could swear he saw Baagak cross the road before he got to Winnipeg. In Anishinaabe, this is Amesoo (knowing) of the presence of Spirit. Midewid interpreted this as a good sign, that the Spirit of Baagak was awakened, and that he could possibly connect me with Baagak's Story.

As we talked, Midewid asked me, "Why do you want to hear about Baagak?"

I told him that a long time ago, while driving around my reserve one Spring night, I, along with everyone in the car, saw a figure cross the road in front of us. This figure matched what I had read in Beaumont That Came. In this book, Jerry Berens includes his mother's description of seeing Baagak (Baagaks). "One day on the prairie, a bird of nothing flashed across my path. I followed its arc and it came to rest on a jagged outcropping of stone behind some trees just then it was off again, rising through the air. Its bleached feathers stood out against the blue. My heart shuddered like it was

I continued to tell Midewid that after this experience I started on my path to read, learn, and explore as much as I could about Baagak. I told Midewid about a very vivid dream I had and that this dream still comes to my mind often, mostly when I travel east through Ontario. I explain that I had this dream shortly after I had found, I almost, I was flying out, over trees at a high speed, over Anishinaabe (Upper) territory. I told Midewid, I thought this dream was connected to my hockey career, and now I can see this dream was connecting me to Baagak.

Midewid started to feel comfortable with me and my focus in Anishinaabe, he told me, I always wanted to create a movie in a story of Baagak's journey, in such a way that it's like an education of stories and that it's not quite recognized by many. You can only see Baagak has in any old form inside with the knowledge (spirit), especially with what is happening to the natural world. This is something the spirit Baagak was entrusted with, to help humans not to forget the promise to keep what was left behind for the future. There is a lot to share. There always wanted to write the stories and have someone of another or another tribe for children and youth.

When I was there, we were to Midewid, dancing, singing, crying, then laughing. A woman, our Mamaw, has died. Is dressed in the most beautiful blue cloth. She takes me aside and showed me Creation. Each created being was followed in That Being's image, each being or Human, Creator made, was different in appearance but shared the same features.

she showed me 15 different species of current Humans and each had a set of skills and knowledge that she wanted us to.

"You will die doing the work," she told me. "They, the People on Earth, will kill you, but the work will
