Grass Dance

The Grass Dance has its origins on the Plains and Prairies of Turtle Island. The origins of this dance vary. One story tells of a young man who could not walk. One night, he had a dream of himself dancing. He told his family of his dream, and with the help of others from the community, they gathered grasses and placed them around him. Slowly, the strength returned to his legs and he was able to dance. The Grass Dance became the dance for giving thanks.

Traditionally, a Grass Dancer would dance using real grass tied to their clothing. Today, strands of yarn or leather create the fringes to represent the grass. The Dancer wears a shirt, pants, beaded or decorated belt, armbands, cuffs, front and back apron, and moccasins. On their head, they may wear a roach headdress made from porcupine hair and two Eagle Feathers. The Eagle Feathers are the only feathers used in the Grass Dancers Regalia. The feathers rock or twirl with the movement of the Dancer.

Grass Dancers dance to Honour their community, their connection to Mother Earth, and Creator. The dance is graceful and, it reminds us to appreciate the Spirit of Life as shown in each blade of grass.

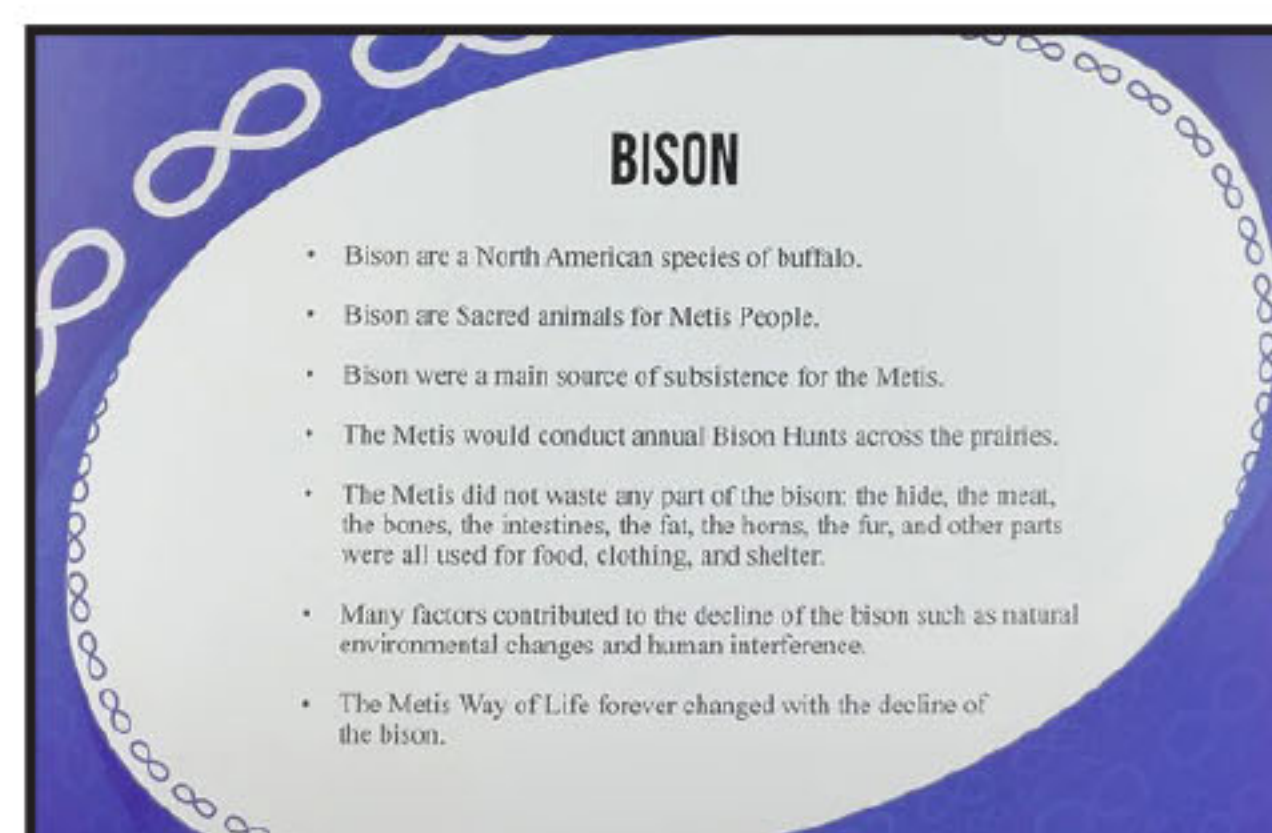

It is primarily a men's dance, but both men and women, depending on their traditions, will dance the Grass Dance. Today, it has evolved into a highly competitive form of Powwow dancing.

All Our Relations Card Sets

All Our Relations Card Set features quick facts, “Did You Know?” highlights, and a detailed stats table—sharing the connections between our relatives and Indigenous knowledge. The stats table includes lifespan, weight, habitat, and more.

THE FOUR-LEGGED

Bison

Category	Information
Scientific Name	Bison bison
Type	Two subspecies: the Plains Bison and the Wood Bison.
Size/Weight	Males (bulls) can stand up to 2 meters tall and weigh 900–1,000 kg, while females (cows) are smaller, averaging 700–800 kg.
Diet	Eats grasses and wild plants.
Habitat	Lives in grasslands and open plains.
Lifespan	Lives around 15–20 years in the wild.
Conservation Status	Near Threatened — recovering thanks to Indigenous leadership and conservation partnerships.

Bison & Indigenous Peoples

The bison is sacred to many Indigenous Nations across Turtle Island (North America). The bison teaches strength, generosity, and balance. Every part of the animal was traditionally used — for food, clothing, tools, and shelter — showing gratitude and respect for all that it gave.

Quick Facts

- The bison is the largest land mammal in North America.
- Bison can run up to 35 miles per hour despite its size!

Did You Know?

Many Nations are leading bison restoration projects today, bringing herds back to their ancestral lands — not only to heal the ecosystem, but also to revive cultural and spiritual relationships with this sacred being.

- Bear • Squirrel • Fox • Moose • Cougar • Rabbit • Wolf • Beaver • Porcupine • Horse • Bison • Deer

THE SWIMMERS

Turtle

Red-Eared Slider Turtle

Category	Information
Scientific Name	Trachemys scripta elegans
Type	A semi-aquatic freshwater turtle belonging to the family Emydidae.
Size/Weight	Females reach 20–33 cm and weigh up to 3.5 kg; males grow 13–20 cm and weigh 1–3 kg.
Diet	Aquatic plants, insects, snails, worms, and small fish.
Habitat	Ponds, lakes, marshes, and slow rivers.
Lifespan	Lives around 20–40 years in the wild.
Conservation Status	Common and adaptable, but can become invasive when introduced to new areas.

Turtle & Indigenous Peoples

Across many Indigenous Nations, the Turtle is a sacred symbol of the Earth and Creation. Many Creation stories tell how the world was formed on the back of a great Turtle — giving us the name Turtle Island for what we now call North America.

Quick Facts

- Red-Eared Sliders love to sunbathe. They stack on top of one another on logs or rocks to soak up the sun's warmth.
- They get their name from the red stripe behind each eye, which glows brightly in sunlight.

Did You Know?

The Red-Eared Slider lives in slow-moving waters such as ponds, lakes, and wetlands found across much of Turtle Island (North America). It spends its days basking in the sun, then slipping quietly into the water for safety.

- Turtle • Frog • Seal • Orca • Dolphin • Blue Whale • Catfish • Salmon • Shark • Pickerel • Lobster • Crab

THE CRAWLERS

Snake

Garter Snake

Category	Information
Scientific Name	Thamnophis sirtalis
Type	A non-venomous snake from the colubrid family.
Size/Weight	Grows 45–135 cm long (varies by region).
Diet	Eats frogs, worms, fish, insects, and small animals like mice.
Habitat	Lives in meadows, forests, and wetlands, often near streams or ponds.
Lifespan	Lives around 4–10 years in the wild.
Conservation Status	Stable in most areas, but some local populations are at risk.

Garter Snake & Indigenous Peoples

Among many Indigenous Nations, snakes are seen as symbols of healing, transformation, and renewal. The Garter Snake, small yet powerful, reminds us of the cycles of life — shedding its skin to begin anew.

Quick Facts

- The snake teaches change and renewal — just as it sheds its skin.
- The snake plays an important role in nature's balance, helping to keep ecosystems healthy by controlling insect, frog, and rodent populations.

Did You Know?

The Garter Snake lives across much of Turtle Island (North America), often near water, grasslands, and forests. It thrives in the places where land and water meet — teaching us that life exists in connection, not separation. When the snake disappears from an area, it's a sign that the land is no longer in harmony.

- Spider • Lizard • Snail • Ladybug • Beetle • Grasshopper • Ant • Worm • Scorpion • Caterpillar • Alligator • Snake

THE WINGED-ONES

Raven

Raven

Category	Information
Scientific Name	Corvus corax
Type	A large scapoid from the crow family (Corvidae).
Size/Weight	Measures 56–69 cm from beak to tail and weighs 0.7–1.6 kg.
Diet	Omnivore — eats berries, insects, small animals, and also carrion.
Habitat	Lives in forests, mountains, tundra, and coastal areas.
Lifespan	Lives around 10–15 years in the wild.
Conservation Status	Stable and widespread.

Raven & Indigenous Peoples

To many Indigenous Nations across Turtle Island, the Raven is a powerful teacher, trickster, and bringer of light. It is known for its intelligence and curiosity, often showing humans new ways to see the world.

Quick Facts

- Ravens are among the smartest birds in the world — they can use tools and solve puzzles.
- Ravens have a wide range of calls and sounds, and can even mimic human voices.

Did You Know?

Ravens live across almost all of Turtle Island, from forests and mountains to coastal regions and tundra. They are highly adaptable and social, often traveling in pairs or small groups. The Raven's black feathers symbolize mystery and transformation, reminding us that the world is full of unseen connections and teachings.

- Goose • Eagle • Hawk • Dragonfly • Owl • Woodpecker • Bumble Bee • Mallard • Butterfly • Raven • Hummingbird • Loon
